THE HOLY DEER

The apartment lies at the crossroads of Baroque Architecture. Located inside the church of Sant'Agnese in Agone, attributed to Francesco Borromini, and overlooking the Fountain of the Four Rivers by Gian Lorenzo Bernini in Piazza Navona. It was a special and outrageous time for architecture, taking most people by shock and surprise - everything before that had been ruled by classicism, practicality, and distinct orders. This stark turning point came out of the Catholic Church's Counter Reformation, when the church launched a sensory and emotional appeal to its people through art and architecture.

LIVING INSIDE HISTORY IS A PRIVILEGE.
A UNIQUE SENSATION.

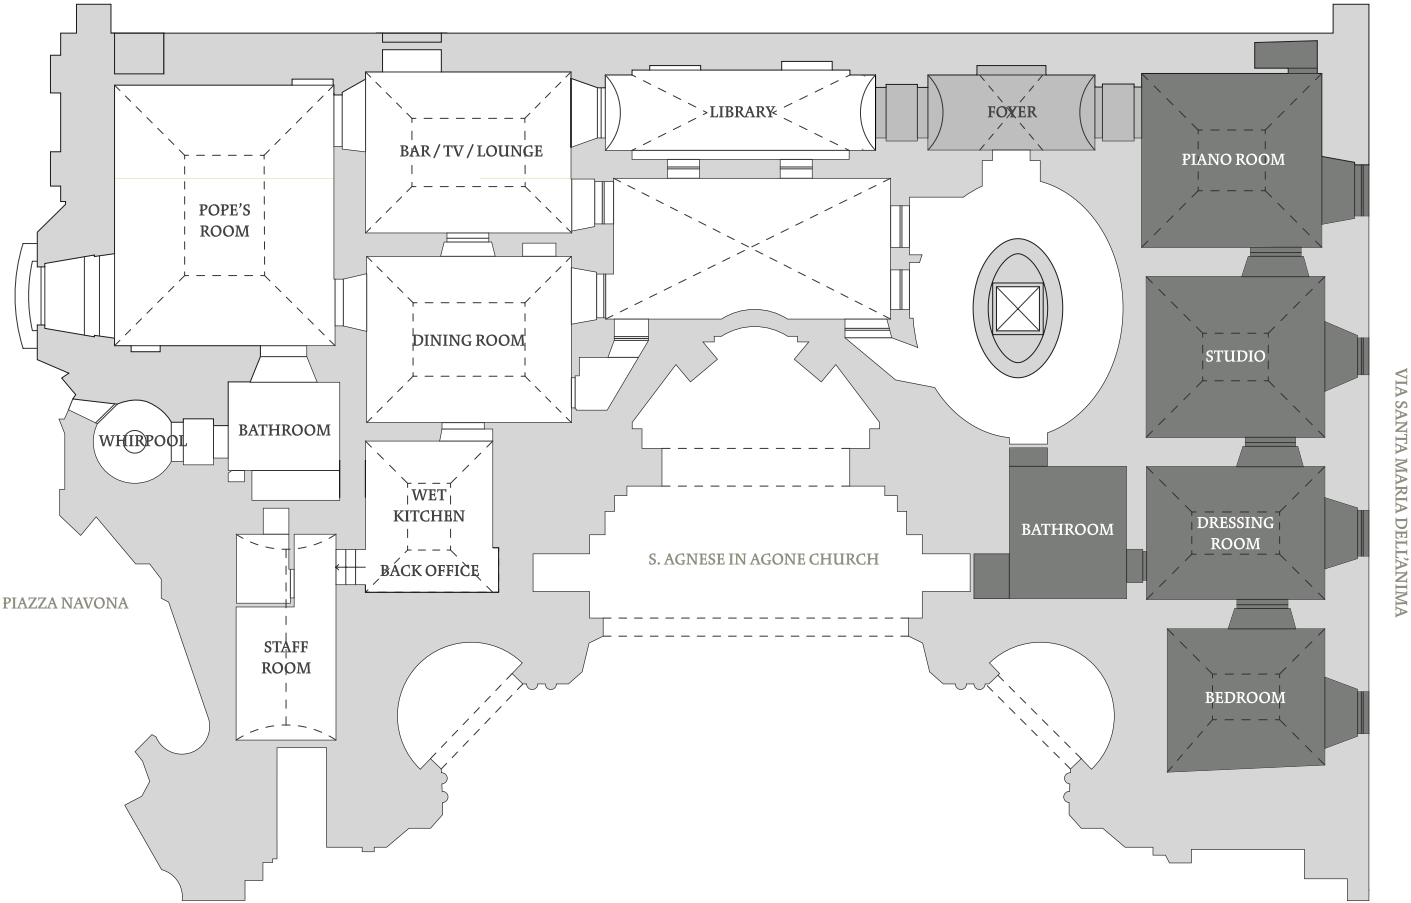

THE MUSIC SUITE

Moving toward the Via dell'Anima portion of the apartment the guest first encounters the music room. The piano forte is the protagonist of the room. Metallic details recall the strings and the resonance within the space. Muted blue grey walls harmonize with the warm tones of the fresco above. During the afternoon, light floods through the window and sets the entire room, and all its colors aglow. By night, dramatic lighting gives the room a scenographic appeal. From the music room there is a vista passing all the rooms on the front side of the apartment, culminating at in the first bedroom. The series of marble framed passage ways comprise the rooms of Allegrini's Old Testament series.

THE POPE'S SUITE

The masterpiece of the apartment was the room created for Pope Innocent X himself. The room is enthralled with history and speculation. With ceilings 8 meters tall topped by the most spectacularly detailed fresco, Allegrini depicts the story of Dido. The bed became the protagonist in the design. A signature piece constructed of reclaimed wood from the forrest of the clients immersed in raw brass creates a new encased artistic matter. The process, developed by a wood artist speaks to the clients regard to the history and the story of Lady Olympia. The high platform for the bed seeks to bring those who sleep there closer to the fascination of the fresco above. The headboard behind is covered in a traditional Florentine pattern hand made on an antique loom. Opposite of the bed are two wardrobes of the same wood immersed in brass. Above each, a name, Olympia & Innocent.

THE ENTIRE PROPERTY

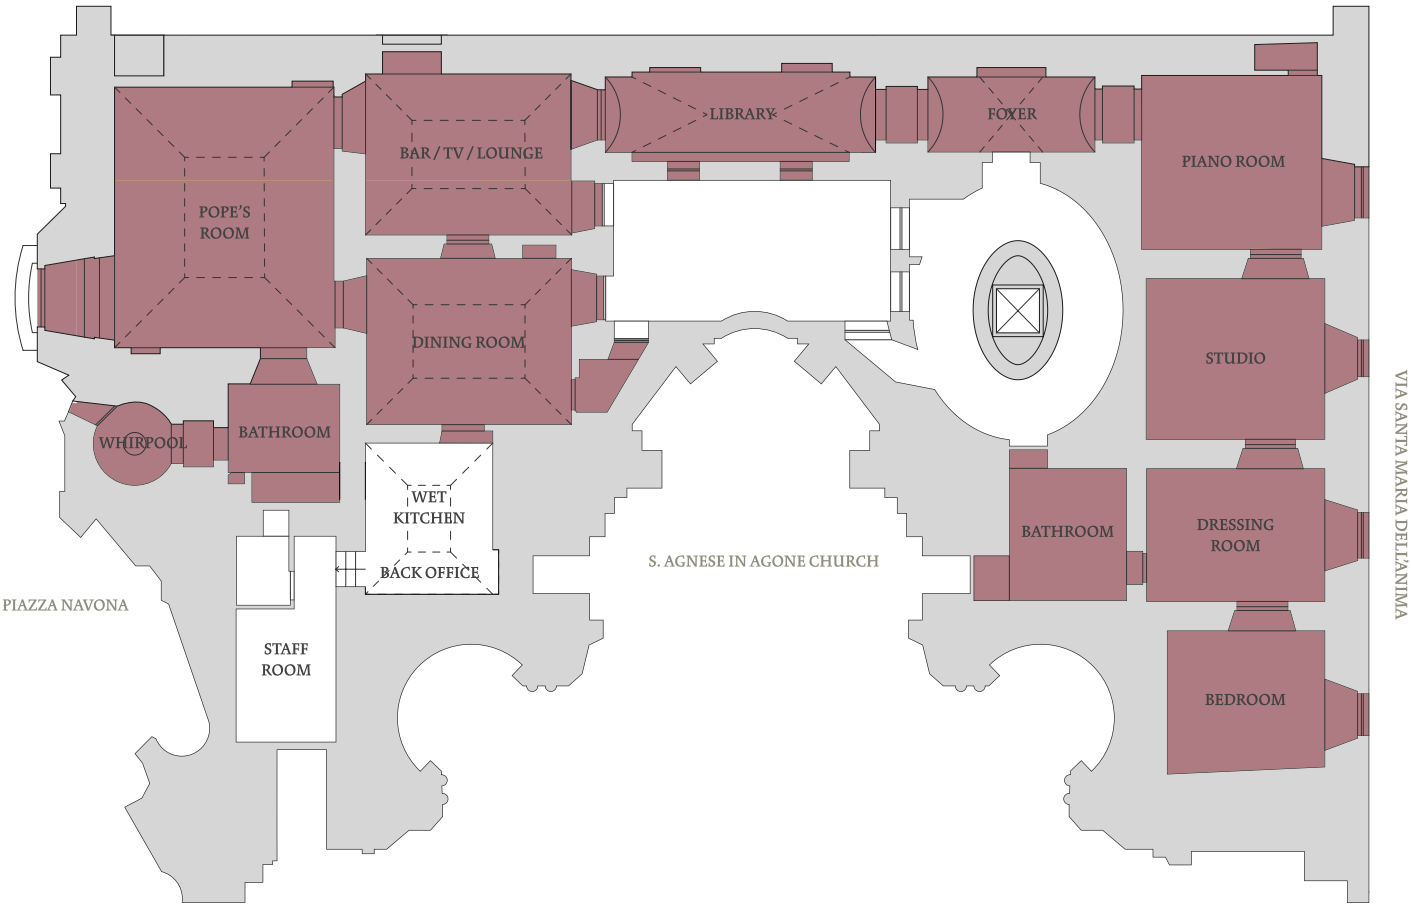

The very concept of meraviglia links seemingly distant historical periods such as the Baroque and our post-modern era in a constant and intimate exchange of allusions, quotations and implications. The Holy Deer is a contemporary home immersed within a historical context.

The two secluded rooms are linked to one another through a study, music room, library, lounge for conversing or watching TV, dining room and kitchen. Conceived as a place to gather together and socialize, each of these spaces has been meticulously designed to help guests enjoy the intimacy of a private retreat to the fullest, and to indulge in creative idleness.
